The families that raise cattle take good care of the land and water. They use crops, tractors, and horses to help raise healthy beef.