Guidelines for Flower Arrangements

Flowers: Quality and condition of flowers is very important. Flowers and foliage must be firm and has good texture. There should be no signs of disease or insects, foliage, and flowers should be clean. Color must be clear and bright. Flowers and foliage should be properly hardened. Flowers that wilt too quickly should be avoided (cleome, coreopsis, etc.) Flowers with sap need to be heat treated (poppies, dahlias, hollyhocks, etc.).

Arrangement: Avoid crowding; airiness in design is very important. A well-planned arrangement enhances the beauty of the flowers in the design. Choice and creative use of color is important. Color harmony must be considered and colors chosen carefully to fit one of the following color schemes:

- 1. One color (monochromatic)
- 2. Neighboring colors
- 3. Complementary (opposite) colors
- 4. Triad colors that form three points of a triangle on the color wheel, such as red, yellow, blue.

Flower shapes should be used in a harmonious and creative way. The arrangement should be in balance, either symmetrical or asymmetrical. The form of an arrangement must be appropriate for the intended use.

For Example: table arrangement must be low enough to allow conversation across the table.

Container: The container should be simple, neutral in color and not compete with the flowers and foliage. White containers should only be used if there are white flowers in the arrangement. The container should complement the flowers, foliage colors, and textures. Container size must be in proportion with the size and shape of the arrangement.

Principles of Design

Entire flower arrangement should show the knowledge of the 6 principles of design:

- 1. Balance-a feeling of stability of the design.
- 2. Rhythm-a flow through the design that allows the eye to move smoothly from 1 area to another.
- 3. Dominance-1 color, 1 flower shape or one fine direction is "dominant" over the others in the design.
- 4. Contrast-gives variety to the design, could be done with texture, line or color.
