

STATE FAIR PARK

October 7, 2009

Dear Madams and Sirs,

A key element of State Fair Park's Master Development Strategy, is implementation of Agri-Fair of the Americas. Its functional relation to the site, advancement of agriculture in domestic and international markets, and economic benefits to the region is without precedent.

Formation of Agri-Fair of the Americas will create a world-class agricultural equipment, products, science and technologies event, and series of symposiums that focus on domestic and world markets. We are confident that market, business, finance and political conditions are correctly positioned to implement an international agricultural exposition and world symposium. This effort holds the potential of significantly improving long-term economic opportunities and contributing significantly to our quality of life.

New exhibit and service facilities, site improvements and renovation of existing facilities, will enhance production and operational capacity of State Fair Park's existing programs and are designed to accommodate production requirements of Agri-Fair of the Americas.

We appreciate your consideration, support, and interest in this important endeavor and welcome your comments as we advance plans toward implementation.

Sincerely,

Greg Stewart
