

Egg Writing Prompts

Below are some egg-related topics that you can write about. Be creative and have fun with these topics!

- What is your favorite way to eat eggs: fried, scrambled, or hard boiled?
- Which came first the chicken or the egg?
- If you were to create your own omelet what toppings would you use?
- Think about the story “Green Eggs and Ham” by Dr. Seuss. Write about a time when you thought you did not like something but tried it and ending up liking it just like “Sam I Am”.
- Write a conversation between two eggs about to be cooked.
- Create a new ending to Humpty Dumpty.
- Write a poem about the taste of an egg.
- Create a recipe using eggs.
- Write a story with a talking egg as the main character.
- Compare and contrast a raw egg and a cooked egg.
- Write about your favorite “egg idiom”. Include a meaning of your “egg idiom”.
- Eggs can come in different sizes and colors. Write a story about an egg that was unique, and how its differences made it special.
- Write about all the different ways eggs can be part of your breakfast — both as part of the meal, or as an ingredient.
- Tell the story of a dozen eggs living together in a carton.
- Make up a joke or riddle that involves an egg.
- Write a story about having an egg as a pet and how you would take care of it.
