

Soil In Your Life

Have you ever thought about how important soil is in your daily life? It grows the fibers that make your clothes, produces the crops that feed you, makes food for livestock that will be eaten for meat, and lots more.

Directions: In the big circle surrounding “Soil,” list everything you have done today, everything you have eaten, and any products you may have used.

On the lines provided, write down how your listed items are connected to the soil.

---

---

---

---

---