

San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo COVID-19 Safety Measures

As of 01.15.21

Access to the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo & Freeman Coliseum:

In order to access the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo, guests are required to have a rodeo ticket or an approved credential. Rodeo tickets are digital and limited quantities are available at sarodeo.com/tickets. There will be no fairgrounds or carnival for 2021.

Top Safety Pillars:

- Face Coverings Required – (over the age of 4) Must be properly worn over the mouth and nose while at the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo, unless eating or drinking
- Social Distancing – Please maintain a distance of at least six feet from other patrons, follow directional signage and ground markings, and avoid congregating in large groups
- Temperature Screenings Required – All entrances require temperature screenings. Guests who have a high temperature (as defined by state and local guidelines) will be rescreened, and if temperature remains above the designated level, they will not be able to enter

Additional Safety Precautions Include:

- Temp Defend Thermal sensors at all entrances. Handheld electronic thermometers also available as a secondary measure.
- Synexis Biodefense systems that help reduce the presence of microorganisms are installed in the following locations: Auction Barn, Dairy Center, Rodeo Contestant Hospitality, International Room.
- Dust Free Active air purification system utilized in all air HVAC units in the Freeman Coliseum. This system has ionic oxidation technology plus negative ionization to destroy pollutants as an air scrubber.
- All locations to be sprayed and cleaned with Bioesque disinfectant every day.
- Sanitizing and handwashing stations located throughout.
- Seating in the Freeman Coliseum is in pods as per state guidelines and tickets are digital.
- Reduced capacity and alleyways widened to eight feet in livestock barns.

Note – These health and safety guidelines are subject to change and additional precautionary measures may be added at any time.

Thank you for safely supporting the youth of Texas!
