

Andrea grew up an active Georgia 4-Her and was successful showing horses in all-around events in 4-H and Pony of the Americas as a youth. She competed on the national champion IHSA team at Berry College during her undergraduate career and then attended MTSU for her Masters degree.

Andrea joined the faculty in Horse Science at Middle Tennessee State University in August of 2016. At MTSU Andrea coaches the nationally renowned stock horse team and reiners on the IHSA equestrian team. She also teaches a variety of undergraduate courses in horsemanship, equine assisted activities and therapies, stable management, behavior of domestic animals, and advanced western competition. Additionally,

Andrea coordinates the Center of Equine Recovery for Veterans (CERV), a program established as a partnership with the Veterans Recovery Center in Murfreesboro, TN and Horse Science to provide services for Veterans diagnosed with a mental illness.
