Position Title: Social Media Intern
Department: Storrowton Village Museum
Supervisor: Education & Communication Specialist
Position Type: Casual – non-exempt
Timeframe: June 1 – October 1

Position Summary
The Social Media Intern at Storrowton Village Museum (SVM) provides a student or recent graduate an opportunity to engage the public in a fun and creative way through development of social media content, with an emphasis on discussion of New England’s history and making it relevant to a diverse population of social media followers and museum visitors. SVM provides a unique experience with its location on the grounds of the Eastern States Exposition, which features the annual Big E Fair.

The Social Media Intern will work closely with the Education & Communication Specialist as well as Director throughout the internship on such functions as content development, research, and execution of social media posts. The intern will be present during public programs to capture public experiences. The Social Media Intern may also have the ability to complete writing assignments for various internal and external publications (website, internal newsletters, etc.). In addition, the Social Media Intern will be introduced to other museum functions including training in mid-19th century costumed interpretation and program planning.

Requirements
o Successful completion of at least two semesters (or equivalent) of college work.
o Ability to work a minimum of 5 Saturdays from mid-June through mid-August.
o Ability to work a minimum of 6 shifts (6 hours each) during the 2019 Big E (September 13 – 29).
o Proven writing skills.
o Demonstrated ability to be creative and work collaboratively.
o Flexibility, enthusiasm, and a sense of humor.
